JUNIOR CHAMBER TABLES PLAN FOR STATE PARK HERE

STATE OFFICER FAVORS UPPER HALF OF CANYON, BUT NO MONEY AVAILABLE

At the monthly dinner meeting of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce held Monday night in the Florence Restaurant President Henry Vervais reported he had taken Frederick Perl, investigating officer with the state division of parks, for a ride up Niles Canyon some weeks ago.

The official said the state had no money with which to buy parks, and seemed disinterested in the lower area of the canyon by reason of its narrowness. He did look favorably on that part of the canyon between Silver Springs and the Water Temple and requested that a placque (modeled in relief) be sent to his office.

Would Make Charges

The state would build cabins and charge both for parking and overnight camping, as at present, and would let out concessions.

As the land concerned is the property of the San Francisco water district and could not be purchased, the chamber voted to table any further action on a state park here until after the new high way is finished at the upper end.

Secretary Fred Duffie was instructed to write Congressman Albert Carter to learn the present status of the proposed new post-office for Niles.

Ed Enos was appointed to look into the prospect of having a direct road built between Niles and Centerville either through the Joseph Shinn property or along a survey made some years ago starting from the California Nursery property and entering the north end of Centerville by the Chevrolet Garage. This could connect directly with the proposed new high speed East Shore highway.

Vernon Ellsworth was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange a turkey dinner some time in January for the members of the Niles Junior Traffic patrol.

—Christmas Matinee

The Junior Chamber will provide the candy for the annual free Christmas matinee for children to be given Monday afternoon, December 23 at the Niles Theatre, through the courtesy of Manager "Bill" Helm.

The following names were put in nomination for office, to be ballotted on by mail, the ballots to be counted at the January meeting, and the new officers to be installed at the February meeting.

For president: Vernon Ellsworth, Ed Enos.

For vice-president: Henry Vervais, Bill Alameda, John Berchem, Dick Attinger.

For secretary: Fred Duffie, Bill Estudillo.

For treasurer: Walter Waynflete, Ed Jauch.

For board of directors, (five to be elected): Bill Alameda, Bill Estudillo, Vernon Ellsworth, John Berchem, Barney Biaochi, Lewis Lewis, Norman Rose, Ed Jauch.

Enos offered to provide a speaker on South America from Hayward for the March meeting. Alameda suggested a play night and stag party be held some time soon.

It was unanimously moved that future dinners begin promptly at 6:15 o'clock.

ROTARY HEARS FINE TALK ON SOUTH AMERICA

WITH EUROPEAN EXPORTS CUT OFF COUNTRIES FACE ECONOMIC COLLAPSE

A fascinating account of conditions in South America today was given last Thursday noon before the members of the Niles Rotary club at the Hotel Belvoir by John Sandoval, bay region businessman.

The speaker said he had sold his business in San Francisco last year and before starting in another business again he and his wife took a three and a half months vacation trip to South America, during the course of which they visited every country there. They travelled 21,000 miles by airplane and 1200 miles by boat, most of it up the Parana river. When crossing the Andes at 17,000 feet in the air, oxygen tanks were used by the crew and passengers.

South America has three civilizations, he said: the early or Inca, as found even today in Peru; the Spanish colonial as still found in Columbia, and the modern, which flourishes along the east coast and in the principal centers, like Montevidio, Rio Janeiro and Buenos Ayres.

—Women Stay Home

He attended Rotary meetings whereever there were clubs, though most of the clubs met at night. Even American women have little social life in public, he related, saying that men usually went even to the opera in groups, without their wives.

Although South America is a tourist paradise, and it is a place where white people go to make money, Americans in particular do not care to make their homes there for life.

The instability of governments in the nations to the south frequently makes business difficult for foreignors. All the southern nations are now governed by dictators of greater or less degree. For example, he said in Brazil in 1932 the duly elected president went to Washington to pay his respects to our (then) new president. During his absence a usurper seized the reins of government, which he still holds. The supposed governing body, the chamber of deputies, has not convened in its marble chambers since 1932. Although Brazil is nominally a republic, the present president was never elected.

—Marked Prosperity

Venezuela and Bolivia now enjoy marked prosperity because of American business interests located in those countries. Venezuela has been receiving such substantial royalties from two major American oil companies for the past ten years, this money pays all the expenses of government including schools, roads, the army, etc. and there are no taxes to pay. The Venezuelans are very friendly to us, their friendship springing chiefly from a commercial basis.

The best way for us to combat nazi and fascist economic and political inroads is for our country to give them economic preferences, and loan them such money as they need.

As 65 percent of all South American exports prior to the war went to Europe, and the British blockade has cut off this entire outlet, their surpluses are increasing dangerously, and all of South America is in the throes of an economic collapse, he said.

The American position in South America is improving, the speaker concluded, particularly since our state department has made half a billion dollars available to South American countries through our Export-Import bank.

The peoples to the south of us prefer to be treated as neighbors rather than members of inferior races.

ALVARADO REORGANIZES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Frank Machado, who signed up 80 members, is Unanimously elected president; To meet on fourth Thursdays

ALVARADO — with more than half the 80 new paid-up members of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce present, the body was reorganized at a meeting at the grammar school Tuesday night.

Frank Machado, credited with personally signing up the 80 members, was unanimously elected president. Joe Lewis was chosen vice president; George Oaks, secretary; John Menezes, treasurer and John Ralph, Joe Dutra, Clarence Flores, A. E. Vargas, Manuel Azevedo, Manuel E. Perry and J. C. Wasley, directors.

President Charles Baird introduced the speaker of the evening Wayne D. Close, manager of the civic development department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. "The Chamber of Commerce is a reflection of the people it represents," Close said. "It shows the inactivity or the activity of its members toward civic improvement. It is composed of future-minded people who endeavor to benefit the town in which they live. A Chamber of Commerce is a business investment. No organization can exist unless it shows results.

"One of the things toward which this Chamber can work is the routing of the Eastshore Highway. It is now mapped to 50th Avenue in San Leandro. From that point to San Jose, it can go anywhere. The Oakland Chamber of Commerce will aid this group in any way that it can. We in Oakland realize that the rural end of the county feeds our cities. New highways are drawing the sections closer together and will mean much in the development of your community."

Also on the program was I. N. Stage, representing L. Cedric Mac abee, consulting engineer who has been working with an Alvarado committee regarding the proposed sanitary district. Stage complimented the Alvarado residents on the speed and efficiency with which they had put through the project to this point. The Alvarado system is being used as a model for other communities, he said. The petition has been presented to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and a protest hearing has been set for December 19. If there is no protest, it is probable that the election will be held about January 21, he said.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter to the District Attorney's office thanking its personnel for expediting the preliminary steps toward establishing the district.

Definite time and place of further meetings were set for the fourth Thursday of each month at 8 o'clock at the grammar school. Due to the fact that the December meeting would fall on the 26th it was decided to gather next on Thursday, January 23.

After the meeting, ladies of the community, many of whom have joined the organization, served sandwiches, cake and coffee. Machado said that liberal donations from merchants and individuals had made the "feed" possible at practically no expense to the organization.

SCRIPT ON NILES TO BE BROADCAST ON JANUARY 27

Mrs. Gladys Williamson was appointed to prepare a nine page script on Niles to be broadcast at 7:45 on the night of January 27 by the Metropolitan Oakland Area group. President George Bonde made this appointment at the Monday luncheon of the Niles Chamber of Commerce held in the City of Florence Reestaurant.

E. A. Ellsworth, who was appointed the previous week, reported no available site could be found for a possible emergency landing field in or near Niles. It was pointed out that there are two emergency fiends now located near Irvington and Warm Springs in this township, both of which are being used by the army for practice purposes. Hayward is reported interested in developing an emergency landing field near Decoto. The Niles project of establishing an emergency landing field near Niles was dropped as unfeasible.

The chamber voted to make the annual donation to the Niles Boy Scout troop.

The chair appointed Walter Waynflete to contact John Galvin at the county yard to learn if the county is now undertaking the work of erecting signs on all Washington Township road intersections and if a uniform name is to be used throughout the length of each road.

(Big game bets were paid off with free lunches and the kidding was fast and ferocious.)

ALL ALIENS MUST REGISTER HERE BY DECEMBER 26

Approximately 800 aliens of Washington Township have been registered at the Niles Justice Court by clerks of the Niles Post Office, according to Postmaster Ed Enos. He draws attention to the fact that all aliens must register not later than December 26.

Clerks are present at the court house daily except Friday and Sunday from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 6 o'clock. Those who cannot report during these hours may make special appointments at the post office.

Attention is also called to the fact that service in the last World War did not result in the status of citizen unless a special certificate given at the time can be produced.

RIVER BED MOVED TO MAKE APPROACH ROAD POSSIBLE

Lifting a river bed and planting it elsewhere, highway construction men have completed another link in the program for modern and safe traffic routes through Niles Canyon.

In an article published in the magazine "California Highways and Public Works," the newest contribution to the improvement project is described by J. J. Stockard, associate highway engineer.

In reconstructing one mile of the road at the Niles entrance to the canyon, builders moved the channel of Alameda Creek to make room for the highway.

The project, costing a little less than $75,000, improved the alignment of the road, removed two inadequate and dangerous bridges and shortened the route one-tenth of a mile. The new river banks were lined with a boulder and cement retaining wall for erosion protection.

At the present time, according to the account, contracts are pending for a project in which three railroad grade crossings at the easterly end of the canyon will be removed. At an early date, it is planned to remove the only remaining obsolete bridge, about midway between Niles and Sunol.

IRVINGTON COMMUNITY CHURCH

Arthur A. Kirk, minister
Sunday School, 9:50 a.m.
Church worship, 11:00 a.m.

Sunday, December 8 is recognized throughout the world as Universal Bible Sunday. The president of the United States and the governors of most of the states recognize this date. In observance of this particular emphasis, Mr. Arthur Kirk has chosen for his sermon subject: "Our Bible—Is Its Usefulness Diminishing?"

As a guide to a consideration and answer to this question, he will answer these questions in his message: 1. What is the difference between the God of pre-Christian religions and the God of Christians? 2. Where in man's life do the spheres of spiritual things and of material things meet, and how can distressing conflicts be avoided? 3. What are "spiritual values" according to the Bible? 4. Do Christ's teachings as given in the Bible indicate a program that offers hope for solving of the world's economic and social problems?

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services of this church. A warm and friendly welcome awaits each one.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pope recently spent several days in San Francisco visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pope.

BEET GROWERS SEEK EQUITABLE CONTRACTS IN '41

STOCKTON — The fact that contracts offered to sugar beet growers in northern and central California by three large sugar companies are almost identical in price and other provisions was made the basis of charges of a "combination in restraint of trade" today by George H. Wilson, didector of the Central California Beet Growers Association. Wilson is also an executive committeeman of the National Beet Growers Association and a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

—Refuse To Sign

A majority of the sugar beet growers decided recently at their annual meeting in Stockton to refuse to sign contracts now being offered for 1941, declaring that the contracts do not provide them with a proportionate share of the industry's profits.

Wilson explained that one particular grievance of the growers in regard to the contracts offered them by the sugar companies is "the averaging of the net" obtained by the companies as a payoff basis to the growers.

"Under this plan of averaging the nets as a basis for paying the growers for their beets, the companies claim they are enabled to obtain better prices", Wilson stated.

"This may be true, but it should be pointed out", Wilson declared, "that the company whose net returns are above the average of these three nets simply pockets the difference between its individual return and the average of the three. Part of this profit belongs to the growers.

—Recommend Abolition

"The sugar division of the United States Department of Agriculture has recommended that this averaging of the nets be abolished. At recent hearings hold by the Department at Sacramento it was brought out that this practice permits inefficient companies to stay in business at the expense of growers.

"Sugar beet growers in northern and central California are asking that in 1941, the companies either return to individual company settlements, or that if the averaging of the nets is continued it be on the basis that each company will pay to its growers either the average of the nets or its individual net, whichever is the highest. This would give the grower an even break on net returns.

"Growers also seek to do away with tricky contractual phrases which have penalized them in the past," Wilson stated.

NEW FORUM SERIES TO BEGIN ON JANUARY 13

CENTERVILLE — A second series of public forums has been planned by the Washington Union Night School to begin on Monday night, January 13. Topics tentatively announced include freedom of speech, capital or labor, narcotics and juvenile delinquency and crime and the criminal.

The first topic will deal with freedom of the press, freedom of speech and the question of how far these liberties can be curtailed without interfering with the democratic way of life. Efforts are being made to secure an FBI speaker for the last meeting, according to Barton Webb, night school principal.

VAGRANT SENT TO COUNTY JAIL

Fred Klassen, 29, of 2135 South Humboldt St., Denver, was picked up by Deputy Sheriff Henry Vervais in Niles last week and was charged with vagrancy. He was found to be minus a registration card. He didn't know where to register was his excuse He spent a night in the Niles jail and pleaded guilty to vagrancy, being sentenced to 10 days in the county jail by Judge J. A. Silva. It is thought the matter of non-registration will be reported to federal authorities.

It is understood that the Sheriff's office at Hayward has received information that Klassen escaped from a prison road camp at Bakers field.

CHIROPODISTS CAN REMEDY DEFECTS IN SOLDIERS' FEET

Thousands of potentially good soldiers now coming up for examination will be barred from service because of remediable foot defects, according to Dr. Harold Hogan. president of the California State Association of Chiropodists. Speaking at the November meeting of the society recently held in Fresno, Dr. Hogan regretted that chiropodists are not included on the medical examining boards. The examinations which are now going on all over the United States he said, are a forcible reminder of the help that foot practitioners could render their country, if permitted to do so.

Eyes, teeth and all other physical conditions are checked by competent medical examiners and such care as may be needed to make a man effective is given. But the feet of the future fighting men, on which the fate of an important battle may hang, are not so well understood by the general physician. Consequently, men are rejected who might easily be placed in full active duty.

In the last war, Dr. Hogan stated, 45,000 of the first 2,000,000 draftees were turned down because of so-called flat feet and other abnormalities. That is the equivalent of three full army divisions. Declaring that these affections are handled successfully every day by chiropodists, the speaker pointed out that thousands of these rejected men could have been reclaimed by simple, inexpensive measures if chiropodists had ben attached to the training camps.

Legislation to that end is now pending before the Military Affairs Committees of both houses of the Congress, Dr. Hogan said.

NON-RESIDENT DRIVERS URGED TO REGISTER

SACRAMENTO — All persons who have accepted permanent employment in California but still are driving motor vehicles with non resident license plates today were urged by Howard E. Deems, registrar of the Department of Motor Vehicles, to visit the nearest branch office of the Department and acquaint themselves with California regulations.

Deems' admonition was aimed particularly at non resident motorists employed in airplane factories and other national defense activities who have entered California in large numbers within the last few months.

FORMER NEWARK MAN LISTED IN 1940 "WHO'S WHO"

By Eugene Pashote

NEWARK — I was quite thrilled and surprised to find Newark represented in the Biographical Encyclopedia of Who's Who in America for 1940.

I am writing this story for the simple reason I think the people of Newark and Washington Township would like to know who this person is. This has been the first time in history that a Newark man's name was ever printed in the Who's Who of America.

So as not to keep the reader in suspense, the person I found represented in this reference book last week at San Jose State College library was Stanley Hill Barrows, president of the California Chemical Company, which is better known today as the Westvaco Chlorine Corporation. Before going on with Mr. Barrows story, I would like to state that today he is not president of the corporation; but he has an interest in it.

Mr. Barrow's life history, in brief, was as follows in the reference book: "He was born in Chicago, Illinois on August 11, 1883, and was married to Frances Steh lin of Chicago on April 26, 1904, and is now the father of three grown children. Mr. Barrows was president of Park Ridge Lumber and Coal Company, 1906-1914; president of Park Ridge State Bank, 1908-1926; president of Barrows Lumber Company (East St. Louis) 1918-1926; and president of the California Chemical Company, 1926 till about 1939. He is a director of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago. At San Francisco, he is a member of the San Francisco Golf club, Golden Gate Gun club, San Francisco Yacht club, and the Grand Island lodge.

"Mr. Borrows home is at 569 Monroe Street Reno, Nevada; and his business address is California Chemical Company, Newark California, and the Chrysler Building, New York."

LETTER BOX

The following communication from the Rotary club of Montreal, Canada has been presented The Township Registter for publication.

November 12, 1940

Dear President Smith:

Montreal Rotarians send your members greetings.

Our nations are deeply concerned for the preservation of our birthright of freedom. The United States has assumed leadership in the defence of Democracy in the Western Hemisphere, while Canada is associated with her sister nations of the British Commonwealth in giving battle to the powers that are sworn to banish this Democracy from the earth. In this dire struggle, Great Britain and her allies have been encouraged and inspired by the practical aid and moral sympthay of America.

During the past few months there have been many false stories afield regarding the difficulties of travel in Canada. It is the duty of Rotary to foster understanding and goodwill, so we desire to place the facts before you who can help to combat these subversive activities.

We believe we are justified in pointing out that Canada is an ideal vacation land both in winter and in summer. The opportunities and comfort ot of travel in Canada from such travel will be considerable aid in carrying out the enterprise in which we are engaged. We would point out that there are no difficulties for good Americans in crossing or recrossing the boundary line, and further that your American dollar is worth One Dollar and ten cents here.

We need all the war materials we can buy from the United States —our purchases are limited only by the amount of American exchange available.

We would assure you that our Government and Civic authorities, our business houses and our people are more eager than ever to have visitors from your country, in the knowledge that it is so vital to us at this time. Rotarians in every section of Canada crave the opportunity of welcoming you.

Yours in the spirit of Rotary,
D. Beaubier
President, Montreal Rotary Club

HIGH SCHOOL TO HOLD CHRISTMAS PAGEANT DEC. 15

CENTERVILLE — High school students of today can be depended upon to use good judgement in matters of importance to the Nation today. This was the sentiment expressed by Principal A. J. Rathbone at the November luncheon meeting of the Coordinating Council following a report that students had voted to refrain from asking exemption from the amusement tax on tickets of 20 to 40 cents. This particular tax goes for National defense and will amount to from $60 to $70 per year from student shows and parties.

J. L. Bunker, attendance supervisor from the Alameda County Public Schools, gave a demonstration of the audiometer now being used to test the hearing of local students. J. V. Goold reported that the Masonic Lodge had taken up the matter of safety measures at the entrance of the Masonic Home with the Alameda County Board of Supervisors. Mrs. W. L. McWhirter said that the Christmas Cheer Clearing House would again be handled by the Child Welfare Club but that it was hoped some men's organization would take it over as the Welfare Club was supposed to confine its activities to the needs of children.

Mrs. Richard Sparrowe of Centerville will have charge of the card index listing families needing aid and organizations giving same. Any who want names or know of families needing aid at Christmas are asked to report to Mrs Sparrowe.

A letter from Superintendent Edgar Muller thanked the council for its interest in school affairs. He referred particularly to a lette of commendation sent him recently regarding purchase of the audiometer.

Announcement was made of the annual Christmas pageant of the high school on Sunday, December 15 at 5:30 and at 7:30 p.m. and also of the "Messiah" to be given under the auspices of the Presbyterian churches of the township on December 20. Both programs are free to the public.

It was decided to eliminate the December meeting of the council and to next convene in January.

BAR ASSOCIATION OFFERS SPEAKERS TO COUNTY CLUBS

Responding to the plea of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for aid in stopping spy hysteria and witch hunts, the Alameda County Bar Association today announced it had turned over the services of its speaker's bureau to the FBI.

In cooperation with N. J. Pieper, head of the San Francisco office of the FBI, Lawrence E. Dayton, head of the public relations division of the bar association, is now advising and preparing a group of East Bay lawyers who will appear before all civic, service and fraternal groups in the county to tell the story of the FBI's problem and the part the citizen can play in making the plans to solve the problem effective.

"Much harm can be done by well meaning but uninformed citizens," Mr. Pieper said today. "I am confident that the association can bring to the citizens of the East Bay the objective of the bureau and be of material assistance in conducting an orderly campaign to rid this country of those who seek to undermine our national defense."

The plan of the association has already met with public approval from Dr. B. W. Black, head of the Alameda county hospital service, and Mrs. G. W. Luhr, president of the Twenty-eighth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers. They have endorsed the plan and join in the appeal of the bar association to solicit the aid of all citizens.

Appointed by President Carlysle C. Crosby of the bar association to work in the campaign with Mr. Dayton are Markell C. Baer, James S. Blaine, Wallace Knox, James Koford, Thomas J. Ledwich, Howard Rode, Raymond S. Salisbury, Carleton G. Anderson, W. S. Wells Jr., and Joseph A. Murphy.

RENTALS CANNOT BE APPLIED ON F. H. A. FINANCING

A current contention that cumulative rental paid for housing accommodations can be applied as down payment on a home to be financed under the FHA plan was spiked as erroneous by D. C. McGinness, Northern California didector of the Federal Housing Administration.

The housing director pointed out that there is no provision in FHA regulations by which a home may be built or bought without a cash down payment, or through ownership of an acceptable building lot of sufficient value to establish the necessary equity.

"When the Federal Housing plan of home financing was created, it had as foundation years of experience by leading mortgage lending institutions," declared Mr. McGinness. "Ideas were borrowed and exchanged and from them was perfected a system which provides maximum protection and safety for both borrowers and lenders at minimum cost to the home owner.

"Because of FHA mortgage insurance, down payments were reduced to five, ten or twenty percent of the appraised value of house and lot, determined by the cost of the house to be built. Repayment periods were lengthened to fifteen, twenty or twenty-five years, and top interest rate was slashed to four and one-half percent, the most liberal terms on which a home ever has been, or probably ever will be, bought with safety."

Contending that these terms have placed actual home ownership easily within reach of families of modest income, Mr. McGinness stressed the fact that benefits of the plan can be enjoyed only by absolute compliance with prescribed FHA procedure.

Dale Victor Carithers, foreman of the Mission Hereford Ranch is confined to his bed with the flu.

The Junior Rifle Club of the Tangle and Twist Senior Club organized their team on Tuesday evening at the clubhouse in Newark. There was a good turnout and from all indications the club will prove a grand success.

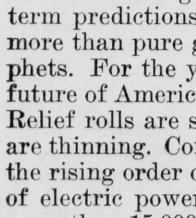
HOW TO HONOR AND RESPECT FLAG OF THE UNITED STATES



While no laws have been enacted, either by the Federal Government or by the States, concerning the display of the Flag, there are certain definite rules in the Flag Code which was adopted by the National Flag Conference held in Washington D. C., June 14 - 15, 1923.

In the following paragraphs authentic Flag information is set forth which it is hoped will prove an inspiration and a guide to patriotic American citizens who wish to respect and honor their Flag properly.

—GENERAL RULES

On buildings and stationary flag-staffs in the open, the Flag should only be displayed from sun rise to sunset.

In rainy or stormy weather, the Flag should not be flown.

When the Flag goes by, rise if sitting, halt if walking. If you are a man, take off your hat and hold it opposite the left shoulder; if a woman, simply stand at attention, right hand over the heart.

Raising of the Flag should be done with briskness and dispatch. It should be lowered slowly and in a ceremonious manner.

The Flag of the United States is dipped in courtesy to another nation, but never to an individual.

—CAUTIONS

Do not place any other flag above, or if on the same level, to the right of the Flag of the United States.

The Flag should never be draped over the hood, sides, or top of any vehicle.

Do not use the Flag as a part of a costume or uniform.

No lettering of any kind should ever be put upon the Flag.

The only time the Flag is displayed with the blue field down is when it is being used as a signal of distress.

Worn-out flags should be wrapped in paper and burned.

A flag torn or frayed by the wind should not be hoisted until it has been repaired.

—THE SALUTE TO THE FLAG

When the Flag is passing in a parade, or when it is being raised or lowered, all persons present should face the Flag, stand at attention and salute. Men in uniform give the regulartion military salute. Those not in uniform remove the headdress with the right hand, and hold it at the left shoulder. Men without hats stand at attention. Women face the Flag and salute by placing the right hand over the heart.

In rendering the pledge to the Flag, stand with the right hand over the heart:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

JOBS, INC.

With war spreading through southern Europe and threatening to engulf Africa and all Asia, long-term predictions on the world's future can be little more than pure guesswork even by the wisest of prophets. For the year immediately ahead however, the future of America seems the brightest in a generation. Relief rolls are shrinking. Ranks of the unemployed are thinning. Construction, expansion, production are the rising order of the times. Consumption nationally of electric power has soared to an all time peak of more than 15,000,000 kilowatt hours for the first nine months of this year — approximately 50 per cent greater than the power production of 1929. America's railroads are budgeting enormous sums to keep step with traffic needs. Auto sales are shattering records from coast to coast.

In all that resurgence of industrial activity, California retains the "white spot" position she held through the depression. The percentage of California farm families owning motor vehicles is the highest in the nation — 97 per cent. The construction budget of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company is $26,000,000 — $2,000,000 over last year. The railroad industry, against odds too, is making jobs for men, the Southern Pacific alone expending over $17,000,000 for 20 new locomotives, 2540 freight cars and 51 air-conditioned streamlined passenger cars, and joining hands to build and operate a new transcontinental luxury train. Such activities, spreading through all manufacturing, growing, processing and distributing, are providing the answer to the problems of unemployment, of relief, of business bankruptcy and governmental deficits, of stagnation in production and consumption — the answer summed up in the word "jobs", jobs for millions of creating, earning, spending builders of America.

Ahead of wretched Europe lies a year of wholesale destruction. But America's surrent history might be written on a page headed, Jobs, Inc.

All the people higher up spend all their time serving all the people lower down, and vice versa. To serve is to be served.

REDUCE LOCAL GOVERNMENT EXPENSES

The population of Alameda county will be about 510,000 on January 1, 1941, according to estimates of California Taxpayers' association. The state as a whole will top the seven million mark by January 1, the association stated, its estimates of population in each of the fifty-eight California counties totalling 7,007,000 persons, based on preliminary census figures

Nationally, the association pointed out, these 7,007,000 Americans in California are united with the 134,000,000 Americans in a national defense program which will cause tremendous increases in Federal taxes during coming years.

"If these greatly increased taxes are not to destroy the very society we are rearming to protect, the people must unite in efforts to lessen the impact of unnecessarily high taxes on their standard of living," the association declared.

"A united demand by 7,007,000 Californians for reduction of the expenditures of state and local governments will prove one of the most effective measures of national defense. The first step in that united demand is to let your state senator and your assemblyman know that you are a part of a united front which says:

"No new or increased government spending;
"Reduce every public expenditure possible!"

THE "GREEK GUADALAJARA"

Yesterday, Ethiopian savages gave Mussolini's legions a tough time of it. At Guadalajara, Spain, his finest troops were routed ignominiously by an inferior force of half-trained Spanish irregulars. Today, following his boasts of the Mediterranean as an "Italian lake", Mussolini's shiny new fleet hides in harbors while hard-bitten British seadogs scour the "Italian lake" to give battle. Today, after months of threats and preparation, Mussolini's shock troops invade little Greece — only to be hurled back so disastrously that the initial encounter is on the war's records as the "Greek Guadalajara".

The true explanation, however, may be complimentary to the Italian character. The Italians are not a warlike race. They have none of the lust for world power that welds the Germans into a steel machine. Mussolini boasts of his eight million bayonets — but the men who hold them seem far more interested in cultivating Italy's sunny vineyards and olives, than in wars of conquest. Quite probably the Italian defeats haven't come about because the Italian soldier is less courageous or less able than his antagonists. Perhaps Italy's military "weakness' is in reality a demonstration of Italy's greatest strength. The Italian masses may be proving that the will of a peaceful people cannot be diverted to aggression by all the pressure of military parades, a controlled press, and the oratory of a jut-jawed dictator. Possibly Italians, as individuals, are demonstrating the very spirit of democracy.

RULES FOR SAFETY IN HEAVY TRAFFIC

The importance of certain rules of safety when driving on heavily traveled, multiple-lane highways has been emphasized recently by several serious accidents, it is pointed out by the public safety department of the California State Automobile Association.

"Much of the danger on such highways arises from the practice of weaving from one traffic lane to another," the motorists organization stated.

"When a motorist gets into a traffic lane he should remain in that lane and not try to enter another until absolutely certain he can do so without danger to himself or other drivers.

"Too often motorists assume that merely by holding out an arm and signalling their intention they are permitted immediately thereafter to swing out of line. This is distinctly not the law. They must first make sure that there is an opportunity to change lanes safely, then give the signal, and not until then may they legally proceed into the other lane.

"Whenever speed is combined with traffic congestion a particularly difficult situation is created. One of the most serious hazards on the heavily traveled, high-speed highway is the pile-up type of accident. This usually occurs when two cars collide and block one or more traffic lanes. Other cars traveling at fairly high speeds are following so closely that they can not avoid running into the collided cars.

"The only protection against a pile-up accident is not to follow the car ahead too closely. A good rule is to allow three car lengths at 25 miles per hour and add a car length for each 5 miles of increase in speed.

"Summing it up, two important rules are: Don't cut in. Keep a safe distance between your car and the one ahead."

News makes knowledge and knowledge is the basis of understanding. Without news this earth would be a bear pit. —John B. Kennedy celebrating Richfield Reporter's 3,000dth anniversary.

NO WORRIES FOR STATE FAIR

SACRAMENTO — Its financial condition reportedly the best in history, the California State Fair will expend approximately $400,000 for capital improvements in the coming year, its budget committee announced here.

Major construction project will be a $370,000 livestock coliseum, cost of which State and Federal agencies are expected to share.

Record-breaking 1940 attendance will leave $224,000 in the Fair's contingent fund, after adjustment, the budget committee estimated — $100,000 more than the total when fiscal 1940-41 began.

Salvage operations at Treasure Island, scene of the San Francisco World's Fair, will yield $79,000 in equipment and materials for installation at the State Fair grounds here.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

California, it so happens, produces more Christmas dinners — or at least more of the savory ingredients which go into Christmas dinners — than any other State or area on the face of the globe.

In fact, if Mrs. America were denied the help of the California farmer at Christmas-time, she would be hard put to it to fill the void.

California will provide more turkeys for American tables this Yuletide season than any other State in the Union.

California, too, will provide millions of roast chickens; millions of fried chickens; millions of eggs for millions of cakes; raisins for the puddings; oranges and walnuts and almonds for Christmas stockings in mfllions of households.

In most homes, the asparagus tips for the salads, the lettuce and the tomatoes — or perhaps the halves of avocados — will have come from California. And the preserved and spiced fruits, which add the final festive touch to a sumptuous Christmas feast — they too, will have come from California, in all probability.

And California farmers, right about now, are hard at work preparing the fixings for tens of millions of American dinners that will make Christmas-day this year a memorable occasion.

This story is written, not simply to remind California farmers of their important role in holiday festivities, but also to reassure the nation that there will be no shortage of Christmas delicacies on December 25, even though imported foods are running low and may not be available.

From New York comes a news dispatch that there's only enough caviar in the United States to last until Christmas.

And supplies of pate de fois gras are practically exhausted.

Olive oils, imported cheeses, chestnuts and other luxury items from foreign lands are also apt to be costly, if obtainable.

But happily, America is not dependent on imports from war-torn Europe.

This nation, which loves its plain American foods, has plenty of beans — and plenty of pork — for American pork and beans. It has turkeys and cranberries and pumpkins in bumper quantities. It has sweet corn, quick frozen so that it will taste fresh all winter. Due to California's Imperial Valley and other wahm belts, it has fresh vegetables when the snows are flying back in the Middle-West and New England. It has glaced apricots and prunes; watermelon rind preserves; fancy cheese which would make even the Swiss envious; syrup and buckwheat for cakes.

When it comes to food, this nation — our America — has everything.

There's only one problem — and that's to see that all Americans have the money with which to buy it. Our only real problem in this country is to achieve domestic peace, as we have peace with other nations, so that men of all creeds and classes can find work again— and security at their own firesides.

America need not worry, as it approaches the Yuletide season, because caviar and goose liver paste are running short. It need not be too disturbed for lack of Italian olive oils, or Swiss Cheese, for actually American cheese can't be improved upon — and American butter is an improvement upon the finest olive oils from Italy.

During the Yuletide season, however, America does need to give thought to how its bounty can be spread among all its people. California can supply more delicacies for holiday banquets than all foreign lands combined. America just needs work — and that's the job all America should buckle down to. We have conquered production; we now need only learn to conquer distribution. We need only learn to live together!

Almost any American citizen worth his salt, if asked whether he believed in a free press, would doubtless answer "Yes".

Freedom of the press is part of our American heritage, just like freedom of speech and freedom to vote for the man of our choice on election day.

But the things we get used to, unfortunately, we often fail to appreciate. A husky, healthy man seldom appreciates his good health until he has a serious illness. A farmer, accustomed to rolling hills and broad acres, sedom evaluates them properly until he has been cooped up, for a time, in a city apartment. And so it is quite probable that many of us — because we have never known anything else — have failed to place a proper value on a free press.

The writer of this column, however, happens to have a lively appreciation of a free press, born of experience over a considerable period of years. The editor of this newspaper, it might be pointed out is under no compulsion to publish this column. In all likelihood, he often, or at least on occasion, disagrees with some of the opinions expressed in it. Yet this column of comment on farm problems and on general problems, as they apply to the farmer and rural people — is published in approximately 400 newspapers every week in California. And its "run" has increased down through the years, even when editors sat down to their typewriters and wrote heated editorials criticizing the thoughts expressed in it. That, in this writer's opinion, is a splendid example of freedom of the press in practical operation — and this columnist, who doesn't know, except by correspondence, more than one-fourth of the editors who run his copy, has good reason to be thankful for the tolerance and understanding of California publishers.

No newspaper which publishes this column asked us to write an article on freedom of the press. In fact, no newspaper which sees fit to run our weekly offerings has ever tried to tell us what to write in all the years we have been writing it. That fact, in itself, is really of considerable significance, for there is no other nation on the face of the globe, in all probability, where a columnist would be given such latitude.

A few days ago (and that's the reason for this column) we chanced to read an interview with Hans Lachmann-Mosse, former publisher of the once famous Berliner Tageblatt, but now a resident of California, on what happened to Germany's free press when Hitler came to power. And what he had to say of what happened there stirred us tremendously — because if America is careless and unprepared, there can be no doubt: IT MIGHT HAPPEN HERE!

"I can speak freely," he said "I have no relatives in Germany, and I'm never going to return. We were a very poor country after the World War, but we were free men. Perhaps we were too free and our government too weak. Hitler saw no reason why a man in a free country shouldn't have a private army.

"I was busy in those days. Besides my three papers, I leased more than 50 magazines. Hitler was busy, too. He saw no reason why a free Reich Chancellor in a weak country shouldn't dissolve the Reichstag. Next the cabinet meeting was called. It is common knowledge that the two ministers who disappeared the next day were kidnaped by Hitler.

"I was not unprepared for the events of 1933. I saw the clouds gathering and sent my family to Switzerland and safety. Publishers meetings were called by the new leader. Next came suggestions and warnings; finally, threats. I went on about my business of publishing the truth until the day the uniformed men came. 'We are grieved that you have overlooked our suggestions', they said, spreading the confiscation papers before me. An army automatic was at my neck, so I signed.

And then, this former German editor said: "Enough of the past. you have a glorious country here. You have freedom. I hope you appreciate it!"

Hans Lachmann-Mosse said very complimentary things about our California newspapers. "The speed and thought your editorial writers put into their daily columns is wonderful," he said. "It's all wonderful; everything here is wonderful."

Perhaps you know why we wrote this column, dedicated to editors we have never met, who see fit to publish our writings. For in countries where the press has been regimented, agriculture has been regimented. In countries where freedom of the press has died, liberty has died. Without being too sentimental, we say "God Bless America". And we might add, God Save the American Free Press!

To meet the man-power requirements of the national defense program, the California aircraft industry is engaged in a widespread program of training workers to build military planes.

MEN'S PORK DINNER IS WELL PATRONIZED AT NILES CHURCH

The Thanksgiving Dinner prepared and served by the men at the Niles Congregational church last Thursday evening was an outstanding success. The 78 places set up were entirely filled before 7 o'clock and the tables were reset several times until 160 persons had been served a satisfying dinner with corned pork (ham) and candied sweet potatoes providing the "piece de resistance."

The tables were attractively decorated with autumn leaves, cattails and persimmons by Fred Duffie. Those working as cooks and waiters in addition to Duffie, who was chairman of the event, were Reverend R. C. Day and his son Richard, W. T. Lindsay and his son Andrew, Paul Turner, Paul Offel, Walter Kleinsasser, Charles Middleton Jack Myrick and Walter Waynflete.

The men cleared a tidy sum with which to prosecute the work of the church. The board of trustees extend their thanks to the many diners whose patronage made the event a distinct success.

This festival, which is the largest ever planned in the history of Southern Alameda County, is being sponsored jointly by the local school districts and the Recreation Project of the Work Projects Administration.

Various competitive games including touch tackle, volleyball, and basketball between teams already selected from the playgrounds will open the program at 11:00 a.m.; after which demonstrations in weight-lifting and tumbling will be given. At 12:30 p.m. stunts and relays will be held for the benefit of the smaller children.

TOWNSHIP PLAYERS PRESENT THEIR SECOND OFFERING

The Washington Township Community Players will present the high light of their fall season Thursday and Friday, December 5 and 6 when they present "The Patsy", a three act play, in the high school auditorilm.

It will be the second presentation of the newly organized drama group and will be offered by members of the senior group under the direction of Berkeley Buckingham, W.P.A. recreation director. The Players initial presentation was presented during the summer season and was staged by the junior section. This play, "Little Women," was a huge dramatic success and the senior section is striving hard to hold up the reputation of this dramatic organization.

The cast of "The Patsy" is truly representative of Washington Township, the players living in the various sections of the Township. The cast and staff include Walter J. Rogers of Newark, Mrs R. L. Pond of Irvington, Miss Sheila Leachman of Centerville, Neblett McClure and Stuart McClure of Mission San Jose and Weston Webb, Helen Ross and Clem Donovan of Niles.
